U. S. CONSUL
CURED OF ECZEMA
BY CUTICURA

I had an attack of Eczema, and ordered a box of oxide of zinc ointment. The first application changed the Eczema to tetter, which seemed unquenchable. The druggist had used a rancid cerate and I was poisoned.
A local physician did not help matters, and everything either failed to help, or made it worse. I was becoming desperate, when I thought of CUTICURA REMEDIES, and dispatched my servant for a cake of CUTICURA SOAP and a box of CUTICURA (ointment). The first application relieved me and in three days I was well.

Emperor William's Party Reaches Munich.

Madame Dreyfus Has Received Permission to Cable to Her Husband—Foreign Intelligence.

BUDA PEST, Nov. 24.—A duel has been fought between the minister of the interior, Desiderius DePercel, and Deputy Hotto, a member of the independent party, as an outcome of the minister's speech in parliament on November 22d, in which the deputy considered himself insulted.

The minister of the interior was seriously wounded in the forehead on the second assault.

EMPEROR WILLIAM IN MUNICH.

MUNICH, Nov. 24.—The emperor and empress of Germany arrived here today and were met at the railroad station by Prince Luitpold, the regent of Bavaria and the ministers. After partaking of a luncheon their majesties resumed their journey.

MAY CABLE TO HER HUSBAND.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Madame Dreyfus, the wife of the prisoner of Devil's Island, has been authorized to cable to her husband.

BIG LINERS TO BE BUILT.

GLASGOW, Nov. 24.—The Herald of this city says the American line has ordered six Atlantic twin-screw liners—two of Hawthorne & Leslie, of New Castle, and four of the Clyde Bank Ship Building company.

It is added that they are intended for the Belgian-American service and they will fly the red star flag. The vessels to be built at New Castle are, it appears, to be cargo-boats 520 feet long, and the other four are to be passenger ships 560 feet long.

It is said these vessels are not intended to compete with the bigger and more powerful vessels of other lines.

ENTERS AS A TERRITORY.

Hawaiian Commission Meets in Washington and Discusses Admission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The commission appointed by the president to recommend a form of government for the Hawaiian Islands as a part of the United States, met in Senator Cullom's committee-room at the capitol today for the first time since leaving Honolulu, Senators Cullom and Morgan, Representative Hitt and Judge Frear being present. The meeting was devoted to discussing details of the bill and report which the commission will present to congress. The legislation which will be recommended by the commission will be included in an act very much like the bills providing for the admission of new states into the union, except in the one important detail that it provide for the admission of a territory, and not a state.

One of the recommendations is that the system of importing laborers under contracts shall be discontinued. The commissioners have concluded that as the system is contrary to the laws applying to this country as a whole, it would not be wise to continue it even temporarily in Hawaii.

The commission will recommend a regular territorial form of government, with a governor, a delegate in congress and a legislature. The legislature will be elected by the qualified voters of the islands, but there will be property and educational qualifications imposed upon those who vote for members of the upper house of the legislature. The franchise will not be extended to the Japanese or Chinese in the island, but the Portuguese who become citizens will not be excluded under the restrictions imposed.

The commission estimates that the property secured to the United States will amount to more than $10,000,000.

FORCEFUL WORDS.

Rev. M. J. Byrne's Talks on the "Manchester Martyrs."

Library Hall Crowded by Irish Citizens Who Congregated to Pay Tribute to Departed Heroes.

Many Fort Wayne citizens of Irish birth last evening attended the celebration at Library hall, an affair that was given in memory of the "Manchester Martyrs," Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, the three heroes who died patriots in the Irish cause.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Shamrock club and the attendance was about 800. The president of the evening was Hon. William P. Breen. The chief feature of the evening was an address by Father M. J. Byrne, which was preceded by an enjoyable musical program.

Father Byrne paid a glowing tribute to the worth and character of the men who gave up their lives for the cause of freedom. He spoke of the anniversary of the rebellion of 1798, and of the persecution, hardships and death of the martyrs. He gave an interesting history of the uprisings in Ireland, with the consequent story of blood and slaughter, and followed with the period of English rule. He pronounced the history of Ireland from the day of the accursed union until 1867 as one of infamy.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were passed as expressing the sentiments of the Irish citizens assembled:

"Whereas, Great Britain, the enemy and foremost rival of this country, is making an insidious and desperate effort, through the machinations of her agents and friends at the national capital and throughout the United States, to secure an agreement to a treaty of alliance or general arbitration, and

"Whereas, By appealing to an 'Anglo Saxon brotherhood' that exists only in the mind of the 'Anglomaniac;' to an 'affinity of interests' that is really commercial rivalry, and by hypocritical pretensions to a love that she never bore us, England is endeavoring to create a sentiment favorable to such an outrageous agreement. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we condemn as unpatriotic and un-American such actions upon the part of American newspapers, citizens and public officials, and,

"Resolved, That we protest against an alliance or treaty of general arbitration with any European power, and,

"Resolved, That we reaffirm our belief in the propriety and justness of the Monroe doctrine; that no foreign government shall influence our actions or dictate our policy, and

"Resolved, That, as citizens of the greatest republic in the world's history, and believing that all men are born equal and have an inalienable right to govern themselves, we declare our belief in the righteousness of the cause of the Irish revolutionists of 1798; in the liberty of the Irish people, and in the establishment of an Irish republic."

MARINE DISASTER.

Lake Steamer Arthur Orr a Total Wreck.

Went to Pieces in the Terrible Blizzard on Lake Superior—Had a Valuable Cargo.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 24.—The heaviest marine loss of the year is reported today by the Inman tug Castle, which has returned from the wreck of the freight steamer Tampa at Beaver bay.

The tug Castle found the steel freight steamer Arthur Orr nine miles further eastward from the Tampa, ashore and broken in two. The great blizzard caused the wreck of both steamers. The crew from the Orr had made their way to Beaver Bay, where they had found the crew of the Tampa.

It took them twenty-four hours without food to go the nine miles to that place. They suffered intensely with the cold. They were greatly surprised to find the men from the Tampa at Beaver Bay, as until then they knew nothing of the wreck of the Tampa.

The Orr left here Monday with 2,200 tons of flour and 500 tons of copper, shipped on account of the Northern Steamship company. The Orr went ashore about the same time the Tampa did. The coast is very rocky, the shore sliding into deep water suddenly, which makes the steamer's position extremely dangerous. The spot where the Orr rests is shown on the charts as Baptism river. The Orr was worth $175,000, and was insured for $145,000. Her cargo was worth $120,000. The Tampa was worth $100,000.

Rioting in Seoul.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 24.—There has been street fighting among the political parties at Seoul, capital of Corea. On one side twenty-three persons were killed and further bloodshed is feared. The Japanese government has been asked to send troops to preserve order at Seoul.

The Wayne Stamp company has moved from Wayne street to room 4, in the Pixley-Long block.

PEACE IS AT HAND.

Formal End of War to Be Reached in a Week.

Significant Statement Made by Ambassador Porter.

Cheering Words Delivered at a Paris Banquet.

The Announcement Made at the Thanksgiving Dinner of the American University Club.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—"Within a week the United States will have concluded substantially a peace treaty. It will be such a treaty as will secure all the fruits of our victories."

Such is a statement made by General Horace Porter, United States ambassador, at the annual Thanksgiving dinner of the American University club at the Hotel Continental last evening. Great significance is attached to the declaration because of the fact that with the exception of Whitelaw Reid, absent because of indisposition, all the American peace commissioners were at the banquet table.

"Our people have indorsed the principle of expansion," continued General Porter. "Many Americans who opposed the war now admit that America is justified in discarding the swaddling clothes of infancy and extending the privileges of her freedom as widely as possible.

GREAT BENEFIT OF THE WAR.

"The war has made us respected abroad and stopped sectionalism at home. They were wise and patriotic Americans who saw the wisdom of freeing Cuba and of giving good government to the Philippines. The war made the Americans so that where America's interests are concerned none is for the party and all are for the state."

General Porter then dwelt at length upon the special reasons America has for giving thanks in the present year, saying that special thanks were due to Providence and the soldiers of America for the outcome of the war with Spain. He presided as toastmaster. Covers were laid for 100, and besides the peace commissioners the company included the members of the United States embassy and consulate and representatives of the American colony in Paris. M. Bartholdi and several other Frenchmen were also present. The dining-room was draped with the stars and stripes and the French tri-colors.

Captain Cook, who replied to the toast the "American Universities," pointed out the honors that had been won by college men in the course of the war.

M. Bartholdi, in an effective speech, foretold a great artistic future for the United States.

SAW A TOWN IN THE AIR.

Residents of an Indiana Village Treated to a Mirage.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Nov. 24.—Residents of this city were treated to a grand mirage yesterday afternoon. Shortly after 3 o'clock a city arose into view in the northeast and remained for a quarter of an hour, after which it gradually faded away.

Those who are acquainted in Valparaiso, twenty miles distant, say the reflection was from that city, as many of the buildings were recognized, one being the college on a high bluff.

The buildings appeared upside down. Many persons declared they could distinguish the brick and stone structures from the frame ones.

BIG TRADE WITH RUSSIA.

American Explorer Says the United States Will Equip New Railways.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Sergey Friede, who has explored various parts of Siberia, is about to start for New Chwang as the representative of large manufacturing interests in connection with the new railroad now building between New Chwang, Chulanchen and Sungari. Mr. Friede returned to America a short time ago, armed with orders amounting to $1,000,000 for materials for the Manchurian railroad, which he has distributed among American manufacturers, and he is now engaged in loading ships in Brooklyn and in Philadelphia with rails, locomotives and cars for the railroad.

Mr. Friede believes that in the future the United States will supply the material for the railroads of the Russian empire and declares his intention of spending a part of each year interesting American manufacturers in the fact that San Francisco, as soon as the Trans-Siberian railroad is completed, will be of the greatest commercial importance. He believes that Russia desires to build up a great commerce between her Pacific possessions and America.

COULD BE ELECTED.

Albert J. Beveridge Strong in Senatorial Race.

If Contests Were on Now He Would be the Man—Cannot Hold His Strength.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—The friends of Perry Heath, first assistant postmaster general, have made a canvass of the situation, and have found that he has not the least chance for the election of United States senator. Mr. Heath, from Washington, has authorized the statement that he will not be a candidate.

Every day brings more of the faithful to Indianapolis, and by this time there is a pretty respectable-sized delegation of office-seekers at the Denison. The majority of them want places in the gift of the legislature, and they are busy all the time as if the fate of nations depended on them. Sometimes the race for United States senator is lost sight of in the scramble for places as spittoon cleaner and other important offices.

The announcement that John C. Wingate has espoused the cause of Albert J. Beveridge is a matter of interest in the senatorial fight—not that Wingate has any more influence than dozens of other men, but because practical politicians are announcing themselves for the Indianapolis man. At first the candidacy of Beveridge was looked on by many in jest. Then it grew serious in the minds of other candidates, and now it is a stern reality. There is no doubt, it is asserted by his supporters, that Beveridge at this time is the strongest man in the race, and it is asserted for him that if the legislature could be forced to a vote at this time he would win the election without trouble. His opponents, however, say that he cannot keep his strength.

If Congressman Steele decides to be a candidate for United States senator, James F. Stutesman, of Miami county, will make a fight to secure the nomination for congress in Mr. Steele's district. Mr. Stutesman was the strongest candidate before the nominating convention, except Mr. Steele.

Senator Goodwine, one of the committee appointed by the governor to visit the public institutions, arrived at the Denison last night. He said that the committee has sent letters to all the public institutions and expects to start on its tour of inspection the latter part of the first week in December. He is not certain that the work can be accomplished in thirty days, but it will be the endeavor of the committee to finish it in that time. The work, he says, is an experiment and he cannot foretell how it will be received. Already a feeling is noticeable among those of the members of the general assembly who are here to pay little attention to any report that the committee may make, and they say the question of appropriations for the public institutions will be decided on the floor and not by this committee.

TRIED TO KILL THE CZAR.

Persons Unknown Undertook to Wreck His Train.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—A dispatch from Elbing, the seaport of West Prussia, says an attempt was made upon the life of the czar while his majesty was returning from Copenhagen.

Just before the czar's special train crossed the bridge between Boehmenhoefen and Lagern a switchman discovered that the bridge had been barricaded. By almost superhuman efforts, as a result of which he is now in a hospital, the switchman, it appears, succeeded in removing the obstacles sufficiently to permit of the passage of the imperial train.

An investigation which is being conducted in secret is still proceeding.

LOSS VERY HEAVY.

Baldwin Hotel Fire Costs Over $1,000,000.

A Comparatively Small Insurance Against the Damage—Some of the Missing Accounted For.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—A careful estimate of the loss by the Baldwin hotel fire places the total at $1,500,000, on which, at the outside, there was not over $150,000 insurance. The insurance, $50,000 carried on the hotel was ridiculously small. The reason for this lay in the high rate charged and the fact that the underwriters did not care to carry a large line on such a building, built of wood and brick, with no brick dividing wall and but one outside wall of brick. The insurance on the stocks of goods in the burned structure and the store fittings amounts to $72,250.

George A. Ross carried $22,000; Hyman & Myers, $30,500; Isaac Grant, of the drug store, $5,000; J. J. Groom, $3,000; M. A. Gunst & Co., $10,000; J. Ellis, $3,500, and smaller sums were carried by other tenants. The smoke and water damaged adjoining buildings $20,000 so that $150,000 will cover the insurance loss.

In the list of missing persons the two chambermaids and Tate Pryor have been accounted for.

Mrs. Andrews and two children, guests at the hotel, have not been seen since the fire and their names have been added to the list of missing.

THE VICTIMS.

The number of victims of the Baldwin hotel fire is yet unknown. The Examiner today gives the following list:

DEAD.

J. L. White, capitalist, residing in the hotel.

Lewis Meyer, secretary LaTua Bay Gold Mining company.

John J. Carter, associate judge, of California Jockey club.

Tate Pryor, sheet writer for J. J. Carroll.

MISSING.

J. M. Leithead, purser of the City of Sydney.

Mr. Andrews, cashier of the Baldwin Grotto.

W. W. Benchley, employe of the grill room.

INJURED.

Mrs. Simon H. Seymour, severely bruised.

James Collan, hand cut badly.

Charles Towe, scalp and hand cut.

Bridget Mitchell, broken ankle.

Thanksgiving in Camp.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 24.—Thanksgiving day was observed here as a holiday. There were no drills and only necessary duties were performed by the soldiers and camp force. The Fifteenth infantry will probably leave tomorrow for Savannah under orders to join General Carpenter at Nuevitas, Cuba. James L. ARE GIVING THANKS

Good Cheer Invests the Souls of the People Today.

Thankful for Many Blessings of the Past Year.

Sunshine and Bracing Air Make a Perfect Day.

Union Services Held in Various Churches—Business Houses Closed This Afternoon—At the Institutions.

Cheered by the influence of a bright sun and bracing atmosphere the community did not fail today to appreciate Thanksgiving in all the breadth and length of its meaning. As a day upon which to give thanks no more perfect one could have been ordered by the weather clerk. The chill morning air rang with the ripple of happy voices of children and the pleasantries of the older ones on their way to various places of worship; family dinners were given, the once proud but now fallen turkey as a rule forming an attractive centre piece; celebrations of various sorts were held; but all had the same purpose—a day of thanksgiving.

Being a legal holiday the banks, the court house and city hall were closed all day. Many of the mercantile houses kept open doors until noon. Professional men, as a rule, took a day off, therefore the offices of lawyers, real estate men, insurance men, and others were closed. After the noon hour only a few business houses had open doors, and those were candy stores, cigar stores, saloons and restaurants.

At a number of churches praises were sung and thanks offered to Almighty God for the many blessings of the past year. The meetings were all well attended and full of devout spirit. These services were held at the following places:

BERRY STREET M. E.

Union service, embracing Berry street M. E., Wayne street M. E., Trinity M. E. and St. Paul M. E. churches. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Powell, pastor of Trinity M. E. church.

WESTMINSTER PRESBYTERIAN.

Union services, embracing all of the Presbyterian churches. Sermon preached by Rev. J. A. P. McGaw, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church.

WEST JEFFERSON STREET CHRISTIAN.

Union services, embracing the West Jefferson street Church of Christ and the Plymouth Congregational church. Sermon at 10:30 by the Rev. James S. Ainslie, of Plymouth church.

CREIGHTON AVENUE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Union services in the evening, embracing Creighton avenue Church of Christ and the West Jefferson street Church of Christ. Thanksgiving sermon at 10:30 a. m., by the Rev. Z. K. Harris.

BAPTIST TABERNACLE.

Thanksgiving sermon at 10:30 by the Rev. L. L. Henson.

EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION.

Union services, embracing the south side Protestant congregations. Sermon by the Rev. E. E. Frame, of the South Congregational church.

CATHOLIC SERVICES.

Special Thanksgiving services were held in all of the Catholic churches this morning, high mass being celebrated at 9 o'clock and followed with appropriate sermons.

AT THE INSTITUTIONS.

Sixty turkeys were required to make up the feast at the Indiana School for Feeble Minded Youth, where nearly six hundred children are today reveling in a "thanks" celebration. The menu at this place was as follows: Roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, cranberry sauce, pickles, candy, celery, pumpkin and mince pies, milk coffee.

At the Allen county orphans' home thirty-five children had as good a time as it was possible to obtain from a feast of six turkeys and other substantials, besides candies, nuts and the "trimmings" of a Thanksgiving dinner.

The Reformed orphans' home children and those of St. Vincent's are never forgotten and more especially are they kept in remembrance when the holidays of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's roll around. They had big dinners, all of them.

At the county jail the prisoners partook of a bill of fare made up of roast goose and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, gravy, mince pie, bread, butter and coffee. This kind of a meal is good enough for anybody.

Thanks!
For a bullet that missed in its flight.
Thanks!
For a fever that failed one glad night.

Thanks!
To the Father who heard voices pray.
Thanks!
For a soldier boy home from the fray!

SCHADEWALD FINED.

Judge Baker Assessed Him $25 and Costs.

Gottlieb is Again After John McMullen—Court News of General Interest.

William J. Shadewald, the young man who opened his sweetheart's letters after calling for them at the Fort Wayne postoffice, was yesterday arraigned before Judge Baker in the United States district court in Indianapolis, and after hearing the evidence the judge assessed a fine of $25 and costs.

HETTLER AFTER M'MULLEN.

Gottlieb Hettler yesterday called on Prosecutor Doughman and filed an affidavit against John McMullen charging him with obstructing Monroe street with wagons, mortar boxes, etc. He has had McMullen arrested quite often, but the defendant has always been acquitted. This time Mr. Hettler has employed Judge W. G. Colerick and John F. Rodabaugh to assist the prosecutor.

GAVE AWAY CHAMPAGNE.

The state of Indiana has filed a brief in the supreme court in the appeal of William B. Austin from a judgment fining him $30 for giving away champagne to callers on New Year's day. Austin is a lawyer of considerable social and political prominence at Rensselaer, Ind. He received his callers at his office and distributed the champagne as a mere act of hospitality. He asserted that the law against giving away intoxicating liquors on certain holidays was intended to apply only to dealers, who give it as a cover for an actual sale, although the statute reads: "Whoever shall give away to be drunk as a beverage any vinous or other intoxicating liquor" on such holidays shall be fined.

COURT NOTES.

William Engle was arrested last night by Sheriff Melching on a charge of attempting to beat a board bill. He has been staying at a Columbia street boarding house until his bill for board has reached the sum of $40. Last night, the landlady claims, Engle attempted to get his trunk from the house and she sent for the sheriff.

Frank W. Sterling was taken into custody last evening by Sheriff Melching. He was violent at his home on Murray street. Sterling had been locked up for some time because he was insane, but was released some time ago because he was pronounced cured.

Maria G. Schultz sues the Washington Life Insurance company to collect a policy of $1,000. G. W. Louttit is attorney.

James S. Bird and L. J. Bobilya have qualified as notaries public.

Robert Spice sues the Fort Wayne Athletic club for $100 on a mechanics lien. Vesey & Heaton are attorneys.

Business was quiet about the court house this morning. No work was being done in either the circuit or superior courts and this afternoon all the county officers and their deputies are at home partaking of turkey and cranberry sauce.

A Fisher Record typewriter has been placed in the county auditor's office for trial.

The inmates of the county jail, the poor farm and county orphans' home today enjoyed fine Thanksgiving dinners.

REINFORCEMENTS.

Four Thousand American Troops Reach Manila, say Spanish Advices.

MADRID, Nov. 24.—An official dispatch from Manila says that reinforcements of American troops, numbering 4,000 men, have been landed in the Philippine Islands.

Fred Holling has returned from Toledo, where he attended the funeral of the late Moses Jacoby, president and principal owner of the Buckeye brewery, of which company Mr. Holling is the local agent.

THE FESTIVE SLOT.

Temptation Was Too Strong and They Are Not All Gone.

Martin Lill Was Operating One in His Saloon.

Lieutenant Lapp and Officer Greer Saw it at Work.

Two Young Men Were Patronizing the "Pet" With Their Hard Earned Nickels—Affidavit Filed.

Mayor Scherer meant it when he ordered the slot machines must stop operations in Fort Wayne. At least one saloon keeper thought he didn't and the consequence is that he is now under arrest, charged with allowing one to operate on his premises. The unlucky guesser is Martin Lill, who conducts a saloon on Calhoun street, opposite the Rich hotel.

Information came to the police yesterday that a machine was in his place and Lieutenant Lapp and Officer Greer paid the place a visit. Arrived in the saloon they found the machine on a table in the rear of the barroom and two young men were liberally feeding it with nickels.

Mr. Lill undoubtedly thinks it is a rather peculiar circumstance that because he was a little late in getting rid of his machine he must stand the ignominy of arrest, while dozens of other saloon keepers didn't have to appear in court, even though they had openly operated the machines for weeks and made hundreds of dollars.

And the man that owned the machines, where was he? Gone, without the state receiving a dollar in fines, his pockets undoubtedly lined with the hard earned nickels of Fort Wayne workingmen. Mr. Lill's case was continued until tomorrow morning, when Mayor Scherer will hear the evidence.

A SURPRISE.

Collapse of Steel Rail Deal Was Startling.

The Iron Age Says a Compromise is Pending and the Deal May Yet be Effected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Iron Age today says:

The rail market has had a startling surprise during the last week. It was the general belief that nothing but formally affixing the signatures to the agreement and their ratification by boards of directors was required to make the common selling agency an established fact.

At the last meeting, it is reported, the Pittsburg interest withdrew and the elaborate plan fell to the ground. It appears, however, that a series of fresh negotiations were undertaken, and that some sort of a truce has been now arranged for among the rail makers of the central west. Before these were consummated a large business was done in the west at concessions, but there is a good deal of tonnage still in the market. Buyers appear to have withdrawn to test the strength of the western understandings. In the east a good many orders have been placed.

COIN SWEATING.

Peculiar Crime Fastened on William Shaw.

Found Guilty in St. Louis Federal Court—A Case That Has Become Famous.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 24.—William Shaw, charged with coin sweating, has been convicted by the United States district court. He will be heavily fined and receive a sentence of five years imprisonment. Judge Adams will not pass sentence upon the prisoner until Monday. The case was one of the most famous ever tried in the United States court in the city and has attracted attention in government circles throughout the entire country on account of the many possibilities for swindling that the full operation of the scheme worked by Shaw involved. James Wilcox, an accomplice, who said he came from Indianapolis, turned state's evidence and it was on his testimony that Shaw was convicted.

STIRRED TO THE DEPTHS.

Cleveland Judiciary Much Wrought up by Judge Blandin's Arraignment.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 24.—The sensational finish in the disbarment proceedings against State Senator Burke yesterday, has stirred the legal profession of this city to its foundation.

Ex-Judge Blandin, who so severely arraigned the members of the county bench, is receiving congratulatory telegrams from all over the state for his fearless stand in the matter.

The common pleas judges are greatly wrought up. They will undoubtedly take some action in reference to the matter, but whether to resent it by bringing up Judge Blandin for contempt or to make a statement through the press has not yet been decided.

Many attorneys, however, believe that Judge Blandin will be cited to appear for contempt of court. It is said that Judge Ong may take the initiative in this direction tomorrow morning.

Two descendants of Christopher Columbus are said to be inmates of a poorhouse in Cadiz. This is doubtless why the Spaniards are determined to take the Columbus monument in Havana back to Spain.

Among the things to be thankful for today is that the Spanish peace commissioners are pluma'd against the wall of an American ultimatum.

It is in the natural order and eternal fitness of things that a social reform looking to more sleep for society devotees should have its origin in Philadelphia.

THE withdrawal by the town authorities of the suit against William Rockefeller to collect taxes on a valuation of $2,500,000 for his place known as Rockwood Hall, in Mount Pleasant, N. Y., ends a struggle of two years' duration. The valuation agreed upon now is $343,775. The cost of the litigation over the question has amounted to $100,000.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON argues the necessity of feeding the poor of Cuba, who cannot secure employment because no work is being done on the island. The admiral paints the picture of distress in Cuba in the darkest colors, and he is not the kind of a man to exaggerate the situation. The delay in the evacuation of the island by the Spanish troops is the chief cause of the present distress, [illegible] of American authority were fully established opportunities for work would be furnished to all. But as six weeks will intervene before the Spaniard leaves the land that he has so oppressed it would seem to be the duty of the charitable people of this country to take immediate action to relieve the suffering.

For revenge he advertises his fine house to let, "to a colored family only, with the more children the better." He has so far refused all offers from white people who have wanted to rent the house.

A DAY TO REJOICE.

Not in this generation has Thanksgiving day come to the land with such weight of significance as it has come in this year. Poor, indeed, and to the uttermost wretched is he who can never sort out from the year's experiences something for which to raise his heart in thanksgiving to the Almighty Giver. Less than ever this year is it possible that any one shall say the year has brought no good thing into his life.

The favor of the Lord has rested upon this nation. The country has emerged splendidly victorious from a righteous war begun and waged and won in the name of humanity for the most miserable of God's creatures. Out of the crucible of that war has come a better and nigher and more patriotic national existence. All sectional barriers that so long estranged the south from the north and embittered an unbrotherly division have been burned away, and the nation is one in patriotism, in purpose and in thankfulness.

Material prosperity has blessed the country. As rich a harvest as ever spread a golden glory over the land has been vouchsafed to husbandry and industry and commerce have felt the magic thrill of better times.

Grave questions confront the people, but this day, as gratitude is expressed for Divine guidance through the perils that lately threatened, let there be also petition that the hand of the Almighty may continue to direct this nation in the paths of honor and safety.

TURKEY THOUGHTS.

AND SOME THOUGHTS OF PUMPKINS AND PERSIMMONS

Three Delicacies That Are Famed at Thanksgiving Feasts—Each Possess Curious Charms—The Pucker of the Persimmon.

[Copyright, 1898, by R. K. Munkittrick.]

THE TURKEY.

The first Thanksgiving having occurred in 1621, it seems strange that the turkey did not then and there become the national bird. The turkey may not equal the eagle as a Fourth of July mineral, but as a bird calculated to gild the fleeting moments of the Thanksgiving feast he is so far [illegible] the eagle that to compare them seriously would be like casting [illegible] acid upon the air.

IN ALL HIS GLORY.

It is believed by many thinking people that Thanksgiving was invented to give the turkey a distinction and a prestige and to give us a medium through which to offer our gratitude while experiencing [illegible] festival pleasure. The selection of the turkey for the star part was happy, because every one likes turkey, be it hot, cold or canned. The [illegible], or roast beef and fishballs, the turkey is a concrete symphony that causes every soul to ripple in song. Old and young are alike victims to its powerful charm.

The young eat it with their first teeth, the middle aged attack it with their second teeth, the old masticate it with their third or false teeth, and it is even [illegible] for the toothless. The crowning [illegible] distinction is that which it enjoys in being the tail end of the Thanksgiving ticket. The cranberry [illegible] stuffed, but each is [illegible] with the turkey. They go together so harmoniously that the celery, and [illegible] thus [illegible] "ISN'T HE A BIRD?" [illegible] smile is intensified by the turkey's blush of pride.

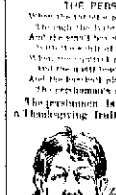
The turkey is a bird among birds, a dish among dishes, a dream among dreams.

When the small boy eats the drumstick,
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Then the greatness of the turkey all will [illegible].

THE PERSIMMON.

When the [illegible]
[illegible]
And the [illegible]
[illegible]
When the [illegible]
And the [illegible]
And the [illegible]
The persimmon's nearly ripe.

The persimmon is in a certain sense a Thanksgiving fruit, because it makes you feel thankful, when you have bitten off a mouthful of it, that you didn't bite off two mouthfuls. Any one who takes a good sized bite out of a persimmon that is not quite ripe and feels his mouth pucker until it seems like a mackerel she doesn't think perhaps so much about Thanksgiving as about some method by which he can have the [illegible] out of the roof of his mouth and his tongue reduced to such a size that he won't talk thick. The persimmon is a sort of wild plum which is, however, not as wild as him that partakes of it not wisely, but too [illegible] [illegible] and intensified the persimmon, because it clings [illegible] to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] among the branches could be as [illegible] as one afflicted with [illegible]. The [illegible] [illegible] persimmons is about equal to that [illegible] [illegible] a page of Latin. That is why he is so fond of persimmons. If he could pick them in [illegible] he would not eat them. [illegible] [illegible]. It is the difficulty of getting them that makes them so dear. And then comes at Thanksgiving when the [illegible] [illegible] in the bosom of the [illegible] and [illegible] and joy [illegible] from one end of the country to the other. So much for the persimmon which is now in the market, where it ought to stay.



THE PERSIMMON'S PLIGHT.

THE PUMPKIN.

[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

The sweetness and supremacy of the pumpkin are universally acknowledged, and the fact that it is sometimes called "punkin" does not detract from its fair fame. A golden roof, a golden blossom, a golden fruit and finally a golden pie, the [illegible] [illegible] it is not wonderful that it should gild our passing thoughts at this particular season and fill our spirits with liveliest anticipations of the glories of Thanksgiving. Whether the pumpkin pie be made at home by hand or in a factory by machinery the effect seems to be the same. You cannot taste the wheels in the factory made pie because the pumpkin pie is a wheel itself whose magnificence dwarfs the other wheels into insignificance. Furthermore, it is pumpkin pie, and when you say that you leave no room for hostile argument. The pumpkin pie, whether square, round or oblong, is warranted to adjust itself to any stomach, the stomach gracefully exerting all its power of elasticity that the pie may be comfortably located, to assimilate with the turkey, until the spirit is suffused with dreams of peace and resignation and the diner feels so kindly toward everybody and everything that he refuses to doubt the accuracy of ice scales and gas meters, while the fact that the plumber is regarded as a usual monstrosity strikes him as an empty fancy. Still he would doubtless prefer to cook a [illegible] with a pleasure which clove [illegible] and [illegible]. In conclusion, one spoonful of the pumpkin of Thanksgivingtide is such that we are [illegible] prouder moment than that at which we were pointed out as being "some pumpkins."

R. K. MUNKITTRICK.

THE NAVY'S TURKEY.

HOW THE JACKIES ENJOY THEIR DAY OF THANKS.

How They "Guy" the Officers During the Naval Annual Parade and Review Aboard Ship—Chasing the Greased Pig.

[Copyright, 1898, by F. A. Veeder.]

T is undeniably true that Jacky, and that means the [illegible] of Uncle Sam's navy, is more thankful this year than ever before—he is thankful he's alive. Spanish shells have come his way by thousands, but he still lives. Jacky is fond of a holiday, and one of the things that go to complete a perfectly spent holiday with Jacky is a good "square meal" with "[illegible]" of a different kind than the commissary supplies. "Soft bread and shore food" are the main parts of this repast, and there must be lots of them. While Jacky enjoys every holiday that comes along the one in which he finds the most pleasure is Thanksgiving day. This is especially true when the ships are in some home port or in the navy yard. Then Jacky is sure he can have whatever he wishes for.

The regular routine work of the ships as far as possible is suspended for the day, and after "quarters" the men are allowed the freedom of the ship. The mess quarters are decorated with the ensigns and signal flags, while the long rows of tables are abundantly supplied with all the delicacies of the season from the turkey which the men call "the buzzard," with its cranberry sauce and other garnishings, to the choicest fruits the market affords. Usually an outside cook is called in to prepare the meal, for every man in the ship is going to enjoy the holiday, and no one works.

There are other things that occupy Jacky's mind besides the "grub," as he calls it, for the day is long, and there are lots of things that can be done. As soon as "quarters" are over the entertainment usually begins with a parade and review, at which all the officers of the ship are asked to be present. It is not a dress parade, where the men have to wear their regulation uniforms, nor do the [illegible] prescribed by the government carry any weight. The uniforms and [illegible] of the men's own get-up, and each participant dresses about as he likes when the commands are given. The uniforms are remarkable, there being no two alike. Every color in the rainbow goes to make up some part of the grotesque costumes worn by the men. This is one opportunity the men have of showing their like or dislike for some of the officers in a mild way. During the drill, which lasts about half an hour, the commands are given to mimic some of the officers, while the men themselves perform all kinds of queer antics.

After the drill a few athletic sports are indulged in before the little red pennant is run up to the signal arm and "mess gear" is sounded. They find a desirable spot for the purpose. Then football, baseball and other games are enjoyed. Jacky's specialty is "pig chasing," and, without a good healthy porker, well greased, to give him a run about the grounds, the day would be lost. Often the pig is too lively for the boys, and many of them get a good tumble before he is finally captured.

Suddenly the familiar sound of the bugle comes over the water to the place where the men have been enjoying themselves. They do not wait for the second call. One seems enough, and they drop everything they have been doing and start for the ship. "Mess gear" has sounded, and the little red pennant has been "bent on" the signal arm. Before the men sit down to their repast the officers are invited in to look at [illegible]. Steaming [illegible] [illegible] pigs and different kinds of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on them. They are surrounded with some of the delicacies to be found on the tables of the world [illegible], and on this occasion Jacky feels that he is a [illegible] and must have the best the market can offer. Speeches are made and the officers are toasted.

THE JACKIES' GROTESQUE REVIEW.

Two and sometimes three hours are passed at the table, and Jacky and his friends enjoy every minute of the time. The afternoon is spent on shore either in the fields playing games or in the library, where such games as cards, checkers and chess are indulged in. When night comes and the bugle sounds "Stand by your hammocks," Jacky is ready. He has enjoyed every minute of the day and is satisfied to "crawl in" and dream of the things the next Thanksgiving day will have in store for him.

F. A. VEEDER.

THE NEW CHARITY.

BY F. [illegible]

[Copyright, 1898, by the Author.]

THE Young Man spent his last 25 cent piece in purchasing a boutonniere of Yale blue violets; then he walked up Fifth avenue, New York, to meditate on what he had to be thankful for.

"My liver is in excellent condition," he reflected, "my debts are not troubling me, and I think I have enough brains to carry me through this difficulty."

Still the fact remained that he didn't know where he was going to get his Thanksgiving dinner, or, what was still more important, how he was going to get a ticket for the Yale-Harvard football match.

At first he let his mind dwell on the Thanksgiving days he had spent in the past, and then he gradually veered around to those he had seen described in stories, but he could find no connection between his present case and any he had experienced or seen described.

"In the stories I have read," he thought to himself, "some miserly millionaire is always made happy by having his flinty heart softened so that he spends much money in charity. Now, being poor, I am just in the position to make a miserly rich man happy by letting him help me."

A few minutes more of reflection made the whimsicality of the idea delightful, and he decided to act on it. But the first thing to do was to catch his millionaire. Stepping into a hotel reading room, he looked through a copy of a Sunday paper in which he had noticed a series of interviews with rich men, in which those ever interesting individuals had confided to the reporter their plans for Thanksgiving day. He read:

"I shall spend the day in attending to business," said Mr. Putancall curtly.

"He'll do," said the Young Man to himself, "for besides being rich and cranky he is a bachelor."

It took him about an hour to walk down town to old Putancall's office; but, being without street car fare, he had no choice but to pace off the distance. On his arrival he at first thought the place was deserted; but, hearing footsteps, Mr. Putancall came out of his private room to investigate. He was in a decidedly grumpy and dissatisfied humor, for the absence of his horde of departments and clerks made him realize that, after all, he was only one man. Without them he was like an octopus shorn of its tentacles. The Young Man stood and looked him over quizzically.

"WELL!" EXCLAIMED MR. PUTANCALL IMPATIENTLY. "WELL!"

"Well!" exclaimed Mr. Putancall impatiently. "Well!"

"Well!" responded the Young Man, smiling.

"What can I do for you?" asked Mr. Putancall with rising anger. He was not accustomed to being echoed in that way.

"Nothing," said the Young Man cheerfully.

"Then you will have to excuse me, for I am busy." And he stepped back into his private office.

The Young Man followed him.

"You are too hasty," he said. "The boot is on the other leg. I am here to do something for you."

"What's that?"

"I am here to do you a great kindness." Then he added, before Mr. Putancall had time to adjust his mind to this unprecedented state of affairs, "By the bye, how many years is it since any one has called on you in the way of kindness?"

This unusual question simply tripped the financier into deeper confusion, and he looked at the daring Young Man in blank astonishment.

"Now, see here," said the Young Man, noticing his advantage and assuming an air of authority, "you have earned over $6,000,000, and you don't know how to enjoy a $5 bill. You are here in your office today simply because you don't know what else to do, and you are feeling wretched because the absence of your assistants makes it impossible for you to smother your feelings with effective work. Why aren't you enjoying Thanksgiving day? Haven't you anything to be thankful for?"

These direct criticisms and searching questions reduced Mr. Putancall to a condition of helplessness that made the Young Man's magnetism tell more on him every minute.

"I saw what you said to the reporter who interviewed you last week and made up my mind that it would be an act of charity to prevent you from keeping your word about working today. How much money have you got in your pocket?"

This question immediately filled Mr. Putancall's mind with fear. Was this mysterious stranger going to rob him? He instinctively reached for the messenger call.

"That's all right," said the Young Man. "You may ring for the police if you like, but before they have arrived I shall have convinced you that you have made a mistake."

Mr. Putancall withdrew his hand.

"But why do you want to know how much money I have?"

"Because you will have to pay the expenses of the day's fun. And it will be a new sensation for you to do it. Really, Mr. Putancall, your case is one that I sympathize with. When you came to New York years ago, it was your intention to win a modest fortune and then go back to live among your old friends. By the time you had acquired such a fortune as you had at first dreamed of your old friends had scattered or become estranged and you had become so accustomed to business life that you could do nothing else, and the result is that all the feelings of your boyhood are imprisoned in your wrinkled old heart. Now, won't you give that boy a holiday?"

HE CHASSED WITH THE TOPPERS.

Mr. Putancall wavered, [illegible] himself, then hesitated again, and when he looked into the frank, good humored eyes that were watching him, he yielded completely. He was experienced enough in the world to know that their honesty was unmistakable. Grasping the proffered hand, he wrung it with the hearty enthusiasm of youth.

"Good!" exclaimed the Young Man. "Now, let me use your telephone for a few minutes, and I will order a dinner; then we will go to the football match."

"I have only $30," said Mr. Putancall while the young man was waiting for central to answer.

"That's more than enough," he replied. "We can have the time of our lives on that. Hello! Is that the Delmonico's? Tell the head waiter to come to the phone. It is always better to order a dinner like this ahead," he observed to Mr. Putancall, who had put on his street coat by this time.

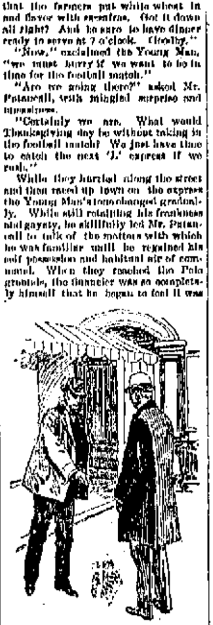
"Hello! Is that you, Jean? Yes, I want you to get up a Thanksgiving dinner for two to be served in one of the private rooms at 7 sharp. No, sir, you can't have carte blanche. I know just what I want. Now take down what I tell you. First I want two orders of clams—oysters are a superstition," he remarked aside, "first thing? Then something really good in a clear soup. You may decide on that yourself. Next we want a lake Ontario whitefish. What's that? The close season for them, you say? I know it is, but that shouldn't trouble you. Oh, you think you know where you can get one? All right, and this is the way you are to cook it: Dress a two pound fish and put it on the range in a kettle of cold water. As soon as the water comes to a boil take it off, and the fish will be done. Notice if the flesh cracks open at the back of the neck, and you can tell if it is done exactly right. Then you are to serve it with egg sauce. Next we want roast turkey—a turkey hen, remember, not a muscular gobbler—and you are to stuff it with old fashioned country dressing of onion and bread crumbs. Then we want apples, nuts and such things. Besides, you are to send down to that little old liquor store on Chambers street for a couple of bottles of hard cider—the special brand that the farmers put white wheat in and flavor with sassafras. Got it down all right? And be sure to have dinner ready to serve at 7 o'clock. Goodby."

"Now," exclaimed the Young Man, "we must hurry if we want to be in time for the football match."

"Are we going there?" asked Mr. Putancall, with mingled surprise and pleasure.

"Certainly we are. What would Thanksgiving day be without taking in the football match? We just have time to catch the next 'L' express if we rush."

While they hurried along the street and then raced up town on the express the Young Man's tone changed gradually. While still retaining his frankness and gayety, he skillfully led Mr. Putancall to talk of the matters with which he was familiar until he regained his self possession and habitual air of command. When they reached the Polo grounds, the financier was so completely himself that he began to feel it was



"BUT LET US PART AS FRIENDS."

he who was doing everything, and when they met a speculator who had tickets to sell he pushed forward with the remark:

"Now you must let me buy the tickets."

The Young Man smiled, for it was evident that his last act of the comedy had succeeded. The millionaire had practically forgotten all the unpleasant features of the talk in his office and was having the tickets as if the idea of buying them had just occurred to him as an act of friendship.

At first Mr. Putancall felt a little out of place and confused, but his young friend was so attentive in explaining the points of the game and the enthusiasm of the crowd was so infectious that he often forgot himself and cheered with the loudest.

During the dinner there was but little conversation. Being a true epicure the Young Man ate in silence, and Mr. Putancall's mind was too much confused with unaccustomed thoughts for him to do any talking. But when they had quaffed their cider and lit their cigars the Young Man leaned back in his chair and remarked:

"I trust you have enjoyed the day?"

"Indeed I have. This is the best dinner I have ever eaten."

"True. And it is one of the things you have been working for all your life, though you didn't know it."

The rich man said nothing for a few minutes. Then he brightened and exclaimed:

"See here, I have taken a great fancy to you, and, if you will let me, I think I can do something for you."

"Indeed!"

"There are many openings in life for young men who have ideas, and I have seen enough of you to know that you are original."

The Young Man bowed gravely.

"Which means," he said, "that in return for my kindness to you today you would coop me up in an office and by the dull routine of business reduce me to an uninspired machine like yourself. By helping me to earn the means of enjoying life you would kill in me the power of enjoyment. Why, you didn't even know you had a palate until I ordered this dinner for you. Your stomach is simply a kind of firebox into which you put a certain amount of fuel every day in order to keep up your steam. Your heart has long been merely a force pump, never thrilled by enthusiasm or human emotions, and your brain is a kind of spider that continually spins schemes to entrap the unwary. Today, for the first time since you have been a boy, there has been something human aroused in you, and your offer, while absurd in the extreme, shows that you might do some good in the world if you only knew how."

"Well, then, will you teach me?"

"I can't promise. I am not charitable by nature, and I think I have done enough today in the way of putting a fellow being on the true road to enjoyment. Perhaps we who are poor are too selfish in keeping our troubles to ourselves instead of making rich men happy by letting them help us, but we have our faults just like other people."

Mr. Putancall could make no reply to this enigmatical speech, so he did all that was in his power—he paid the bill.

"But let us part as friends," said the Young Man, putting out his hand as they reached the street.

"Aren't you going to tell me your name?"

"No. I prefer, like the good fairies in the stories, to be nameless."

They shook hands, and the Young Man disappeared in the crowd, perhaps in quest of a new adventure, and the millionaire returned to his cheerless apartments, wondering if it all had been a dream.

DRESSED THE TURKEY.

Hulda Was Satisfied With Her Work If Others Were Not.

Hulda was a new arrival in the Hope kitchen, and the mistress thereof was true to her name concerning her.

"I am sure she will be a good cook," Mrs. Hope confided to her husband. "She looks so clean and intelligent; besides, she is so pink and pretty"—

"Like a peach tart, herself," supplemented Mr. Hope. Whereupon his wife observed "I don't know" coldly and changed the subject.

The Hope family are prominent in Washington society, and Hulda's first task was to assist the chef in preparing dinner for a trio of diplomats. It was late in the afternoon when a loud cry startled the hostess to her from a dreamy peace.

"Oh, mon Dieu, sat [illegible] affaire se homeselation! Look at Monsieur Le Turk!" cried the chef.

He pointed wrathfully to the turkey in Hulda's hands and Mrs. Hope lost her dignity in one wild shriek of laughter; for a pair of William junior's trousers were pinned about the bird, and a four-in-hand tie ornamented the feathery breast.

"Aye yust worked tray, four hours an Aye took des bane pooty gude," said Hulda, with modest satisfaction. "But Aye couldn't fin to clothes t' dress haem en or Aye would bane more soon. Ef Adolph can dress haem batter, all right."—Chicago Journal.

OVER-WROUGHT NERVES OF WOMEN.

Extracts From Letters Received by Mrs. Pinkham.

"I am so nervous and wretched." "I feel as if I should fly." How familiar these expressions are. Little things annoy you and make you irritable. You can't sleep, you are unable to fill ordinary burdens, and are subject to dizziness.

That bearing-down sensation helps to make you feel miserable.

You have backache and pains low down in the side, pain in top of head, later on at base of the brain.

Such a condition points unerringly to serious uterine trouble.

If you had written to Mrs. Pinkham when you first experienced impaired vitality, you would have been spared these hours of awful suffering.

Happiness will be gone out of your life forever, my sister, unless you act promptly. Procure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and begin its use, then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your case you do not understand.

You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor, your letter is seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Mrs. JENNIE BEERLY, Youngdale, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Will you kindly allow me the pleasure of expressing my gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking your Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, headache, loss of appetite, a heavy bearing-down feeling, also burning pains in the groins. I could not sleep, was tired all the time, had no ambition. Life was a burden to me. The pains I suffered at times of menstruation were something dreadful. I thought there was no cure for it. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and my husband advised me to try your medicine. I took five bottles, and now I am well and happy. Your medicine saved my life."

"A QUIET DAY"

Characterizes the Situation in Railway Circles.

Local Freight Business Suspended and the Shops Deserted—Whisky's Bad Work.

A Sunday quiet prevails about the shops and at the depots, except at times when trains are at the stations, discharging or taking on their loads of living freight. Never in the history of the city was Thanksgiving day more generally observed than it is today and with many of the railway men and mechanics they never had better reason for being thankful. The community has just emerged from a period of business depression which deprived many of those men of the privilege of earning more than a scant living; now they are steadily employed and have the promise of all the work they can perform for months to come—an assuring prospect of happy, contented life not only for them, but those who are dependent upon them for support.

Travel on the railways is very heavy, indicating that other communities are also enjoying the prosperity that characterizes the situation in Fort Wayne. For the first time the Central Traffic association lines are making a special rate for Thanksgiving day and the success of the low rate is so much of a surprise to the companies that it found some of them without adequate facilities for handling the business. Most notable in this way is the Lake Erie and Western, whose morning train left the city with every seat occupied and a half-dozen or more of the passengers standing in the aisles. On this train were the members of the "Under the Red Robe" company, bound for Indianapolis, and the Fort Wayne football club, who played at Hartford City today. The Pennsylvania, the Wabash and the Nickel Plate also agents report big ticket sales and all say the business was heavier than expected. It is quite likely that low rates on Thanksgiving day will be the regular practice in the future.

Whisky Pulled Them Down.

Frank Burns, who yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a pair of gloves from the Meyer hat store, and Wm. Slater, who was dismissed from custody after being held over a week upon the same charge, owe their downfall to whisky. Both were switchmen and for a short time were employed in the east yards of the Pennsylvania company. Burns began drinking two weeks ago and one day called at the office to tender his resignation and get the money that was due him. Slater accompanied Burns down town and the two men began the spree which ended in the calaboose. When Slater was discharged by the court yesterday, he went to the railway office, drew his money and left the city. He has a wife and several children residing in Ohio and it was his intention to bring them here, but his late disgraceful escapade has changed his plans. The railway officials say both of these men were well informed yardmen and that they performed their duties well. They are also said to be congenial and accommodating fellows and they enjoyed the good will of the yard attaches.

May Precipitate a Rate War.

Some of the prominent passenger officials, says the Indianapolis Journal, fear that the action of the Baltimore and Ohio in reducing the rates between Pittsburg, Philadelphia and New York may result in a general passenger rate war. It is a well known fact that the Michigan Central, the Lake Shore and the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago have been anxious to make their rates the same as those of the competing lines on the basis of common time and common fare. This arbitrary action of the Baltimore and Ohio in reducing its rates between points above named because it cannot make as good time as the Pennsylvania lines—ninety miles shorter to New York—may cause the standard lines named to unite and abolish passenger differentials.

General and Local News.

Louis Gronau, a Pittsburg shopman, is on the sick list.

Barney Woenker, the car builder, went to Pierceton last night to eat Thanksgiving turkey with relatives.

Brakeman E. H. Rousharger has recovered from his recent sickness and is working on the Nickel Plate again.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois will erect a new depot at Milford, the first of a number of new depots along the line.

The export of western beef via. Boston is steadily on the increase, now reaching from 140 to 160 carloads per week.

Engineers Henry Jones and P. T. Walsh, of the Pittsburg, have been incapacitated by sickness for two or three days past.

Brakeman W. C. Brewster, of the Nickel Plate, has returned from Michigan, where he spent three weeks at his old home.

President Hill, of the Great Northern, is quoted as saying that control of the Baltimore and Ohio lines by him is only a matter of time.

The Pennsylvania is changing 2,100 cars of 70,000 and 80,000 pounds capacity to 100,000 pounds capacity by placing under them a heavier track.

James H. Brokaw, the Grand Rapids and Indiana passenger conductor, is at Rome City, overseeing the work of building some cottages for himself.

L. C. Kirk is at Columbia City and E. Hipp at Lima to spend Thanksgiving day. Both are car builders, employed by the Pennsylvania company.

C. Roesner, a Pittsburg car repairer, had a piece of metal removed from one of his eyes yesterday, the operation being performed by Dr. K. K. Wheelock.

The Great Northern and the Northern Pacific have reduced the rate on one-thousand-mile tickets from $40 to $30, and on three-thousand mile tickets to $75.

Atlanta, Ga., has a flourishing railroad men's branch of the Young Men's Christian association. Musical and literary entertainments make the organization quite popular.

The new fast train between St. Louis and New York over the Vandalia and Pennsylvania lines, stops deducted, must make an average speed of fifty-one miles an hour.

The St. Louis, Peoria and Northern, which is to further parallel the Chicago and Alton through an extension northward, it is said, will purchase thirty new locomotives.

W. T. Morris has returned from Columbus, Ohio, where he spent a week or two with his father, who is sick. Mr. Morris resumed work on the Nickel Plate this morning. He is a brakeman.

Surveyors has just finished locating the route of the St. Louis, Peoria and Northern, and the engineers report that the line as located is noticeable for its absence of depressions or elevations.

In order that they might not be cheated out of a slice from the Thanksgiving turkey, Engineer William Morris and Firemen Frank Maloney and J. Godfrey, of the Nickel Plate, have taken a lay off.

L. P. Stone, for the past week engaged as a switchman in the Nickel Plate yards at Fostoria, returned here this morning and resumed his old place in Conductor Holley's crew in the through freight service.

The Wabash is making considerable improvements on the Eel River division, putting in new sidings and a bridge over Rock creek among other things. This does not indicate a fear on the part of the management of ever losing control of the Eel River road.

President Cauniff, of the Nickel Plate, came down from Chicago yesterday and left on the Grand Rapids road for Kendallville, where he is spending Thanksgiving with old friends who knew him when he first entered upon his remarkable railway career. He will return here this afternoon and leave on Nickel Plate train No. 4 at 8:30 this evening for his home.

The electric line company which has built a road from Elkhart to Goshen has received two cars, and next week will put them in service, one car leaving Elkhart and the other Goshen at the same hour. The cars will be run on an hourly schedule, covering the ten miles between the two cities in half an hour.

Frank Gladieux, who served as turnkey during Sheriff Melching's first term, will become a member of the Pennsylvania police department. He will enter that service the beginning of December. If the new patrolman serves the railway company as faithfully as he did the county, Captain Stoll will have no reason to regret the appointment of Mr. Gladieux.

A GREAT REMEDY.

For Sufferers From Piles.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the new discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied. This was the more surprising to him because he had carefully analyzed the the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine or similar poison could be detected.

Physicians look with great favor upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking place of surgical operations and because it is so simple, so easily applied and contains no mineral or other poisons so commonly used in cures.

Dr. Esterbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that any one can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation. Sold by druggists at 50 cents per package.

Send to Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich, for free book on cause and cure of piles.

MRS. HOWEY DEAD.

An Aged Resident of Fort Wayne Passes Away.

Succumbed to a Stroke of Paralysis—Timothy McCarthy, of St. Louis, Dies at the Hospital.

Last evening death claimed one of Fort Wayne's old residents, Mrs. Mary A. Howey, who succumbed to a fourth stroke of paralysis. She died at the home of her son, Aaron Howey, at 364 Broadway. The deceased was sixty-nine years old and was the widow of Isaac Howey, who was one of the early railway engineers to come to Fort Wayne, and who held the throttle on the Pennsylvania road for a good many years. Mrs. Howey had a sweet disposition, her heart was full of kindness, and through the trials of life she has ever been patient, loving and charitable. Surviving her are the following children: Mrs. Charles Squires, of Emporia, Kas.; Aaron Howey, of the Land and Improvement company; William Howey, of this city, and Frank Howey, of Peru, Ind. Mrs. Squires will be remembered by many as Miss Susan Howey, who was for years a teacher in the Hoagland school.

M'CARTHY.

Timothy McCarthy died at the St. Joseph hospital last night of pneumonia, at the age of fifty-three years. Deceased came here a week ago to work for Stewart & Co., at the new court house, and was taken ill soon after his arrival. His family at St. Louis has been notified and a son will arrive this evening to take charge of the remains.

MAKING SPOILS.

Battering Down the Civil Service Laws.

President McKinley Will Soon Announce Classes From Which Restrictions Are to be Removed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The exact date of the issuance of the civil service order of the president has not been fixed, though the president has asked to have the final departmental recommendations submitted at the earliest moment. The indications are that it will be out in a few days. The president has discussed the general scope of the forthcoming exemptions with the members of the cabinet and others and there have been several consultations of late among departmental officials.

The exemptions, it is now understood, in addition to those already mentioned, will include members of the board of pension appeals to which appeals from the action of the pension bureau first go; law clerks in the general land office, and among others, per diem employes in the offices of the surveyors general.

Some officials in the Indian service are said to be slated for exemption and a few offices in the postal service, including cashiers and others in postoffices for whose duties the postmasters are held personally responsible, will be included. Private secretaries to chiefs of the bureaus also will be taken out of the civil service, but chief clerks and chiefs of divisions are not to be affected.

Death Loves a Shining Mark.

"She is an only daughter and only seventeen," writes Mrs. H. H. Conklin, of Morton Avenue, Batavia, N. Y., in a recent letter addressed to Doctor R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. "We began your medicine in May (the 'Favorite Prescription'). My daughter then was very wasted, in fact we did not think she could live long. She had profuse menstruation which was of long standing; also a bad cough. We had spent a great deal of money and worried a great deal. When she began taking your medicine her weight was only eighty-seven pounds. She now weighs from ninety-eight to one hundred all the time and is well. It cured entirely of her difficulty, has no cough at all, and all for eight or ten dollars. It had gotten to be a serious question with us. We had done all we could for her. We are truly grateful to you for all your kind advice and sympathy in the matter. We feel that you are a personal friend."

No living physician has a wider practical experience or enjoys a higher reputation in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce. In cases of this nature he will send by mail careful professional advice without charge, and instructions whereby the most obstinate ailments may be entirely overcome. His "Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary remedy ever designed by an educated, authorized physician specifically to cure women's diseases. It is the only medicine which makes motherhood perfectly safe and comparatively easy and painless.

WILL BE CHEAPER.

Price of Pavements Will Be Lower Next Season.

The War is Waging Between the Sheet and Block Asphalt and the Brick Contractors.

The vast amount of street improvements made here last season and the prospects of as much more next season has attracted the attention of dealers in pavement material everywhere. The bids made in Fort Wayne last season indicated that the asphalt block would cost so much more than sheet and brick that there wouldn't be much chance for this material. But next season there will be a change. The block contractors will be able to compete with other classes of material and may probably do the work even cheaper. The big cost is freight bills. The New Castle company has arranged for a much cheaper shipping rate next season. Instead of hauling the block by rail all the way it will be brought over the lakes to Sandusky, Ohio, and from that place can be shipped to Fort Wayne at a much lower rate than is given by the trunk lines. A local contractor in discussing the matter with advocates of the Columbia street pavement, said that he believed there would not be much difference in the price of the three materials principally used in Fort Wayne paving. The board of works is determined to get the best for the least money, and hereafter it is believed they will insist that concrete foundation shall be placed under all streets, no matter what the character of the material used on the surface. Every indication points to better and cheaper streets for the Summit City during the next year.

MONTHLY ENTERTAINMENT

A few weeks ago the Fort Wayne club decided to give monthly entertainments for the pleasure of its members and their invited friends. All club members and their invited guests will be admitted.

Mr. Lucius W. Winchester, secretary of the Iroquois club, says of Mr. Day:

"I cannot refrain from taking this opportunity to express to you not only my individual appreciation, but the appreciation at large of the members of the Iroquois club of the delightful and high-class entertainment which you gave upon the occasion of your recent engagement by them. All of your efforts were replete with wit; the program was unique, and the entertainment was in all regards the best which the club has been able to procure."

OTTO KLINKENBERG SELLS.

His Drug Business Purchased by Edward Garrett, of New York City.

Otto Klinkenberg has sold his drug business at the corner of Berry and Clinton streets to Edward Garrett, of New York City, and the inventory will be taken immediately so that the transfer can be made.

Mr. Klinkenberg retires on account of the continued ill health of his wife, a western climate being desirable for her ailment. Mr. Klinkenberg, while on the Pacific coast, will look around with a view of locating in some growing city, possibly Seattle, Wash. He started in the drug business in Fort Wayne fourteen years ago, as a member of the firm of Klinkenberg & Detzer. The latter gentleman retired several years ago.

Mr. Garrett comes highly recommended as an experienced pharmacist and a thorough gentleman. He is a relative of Mrs. Julia Randall, whose guest he has been for several weeks while the negotiations were in progress.

CELEBRATION ENDED.

Baptist Ladies Conduct Closing Exercises of the Baptist Church Centennial.

The ladies of the Baptist church last evening gave a program to commemorate the founding of the Baptist church in Indiana 100 years ago. Mrs. J. B. Pollens presided at the meeting. Miss Collins gave a Bible reading and Miss Mae Williams delivered a recitation, entitled "Indiana." Mrs. C. E. Heaton read a historical sketch of Indiana Baptists, and Mrs. Pollens read a paper on state missions. Hiram Philley read a paper, entitled, "Old Saddlebags," which was a resume of the pioneer life of the Baptist preacher in Indiana, telling of the hardships endured and the blessings bestowed. He told of the establishment of the Indian Creek church and of the church at Silver Creek.

Mrs. L. L. Henson delivered a short address upon the question, "Why Need Women be Interested in the Work of State Missions?" The speech was couched in forceful language and clearly defined what the speaker claimed to be woman's true sphere in the work and life of the church.

By action of the meeting, Miss Anna Philley was made a life member of the state convention.

IF WE DIDN'T HAVE TO EAT.

Life would be an easy matter
If we didn't have to eat,
If we never had to utter,
"Won't you pass the bread and butter?"
Likewise push along the platter
Full of meat?
Yes, if food were obsolete
Life would be a jolly treat
If we didn't—shine or shower,
Old or young, 'bout every hour—
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
'Twould be jolly if we didn't have to eat!

We could save a lot of money
If we didn't have to eat,
Could we cease our fussy buying,
Baking, broiling, brewing, frying,
Life would then be, oh, so sunny
And complete!
And we wouldn't fear to greet
Every grocer in the street
If we didn't—man or woman,
Every hungry being human—
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
We'd save money if we didn't have to eat!

All our worry would be over
If we didn't have to eat,
Would the butcher, baker, grocer,
Get our hard-earned dollars? No sir!
We would then be right in clover,
Cool and sweet!
Want and hunger we would cheat,
And we'd put them with both feet
If we didn't—poor or wealthy,
Halt or nimble, sick or healthy—
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
We could get there if we didn't have to eat!

—New Orleans Picayune.

How Much?

If you pay more than our charges for dental work, you pay more than enough for the best. That, we can be sure of. You may be sure of it too, by trying. If you pay less than our charges, we are almost equally sure that you will get work worth less than the difference. It's up to you.

SILK FLEECED UNDERWEAR $1.00.

A lucky purchase enables us to offer pure silk fleeced underwear at $1, worth $2. The fleecing of these garments is made of pure silk and it is found to be perfectly comfortable by those who cannot wear wool. Being a non-conductor of electricity, silk equalizes warmth and vitality and prevents rheumatism. No matter how laundered it will not shrink nor become hard and irritating like wool. It is lighter in weight, warmer and more durable than wool, and is moth proof. If you buy this garment you will wear the most luxurious underwear ever made and at one-half their value. As long as they last these $2 goods go at $1. 23-3t

a gritty powder. So does every woman. But go and ask Miss Hollenbeck, at the New York Hair Bazaar, about powders. Naturally a woman knows more about such things. She will show you those fine imported goods from France and Germany. Fine, soft, delicate, fragrant. Roget & Gallet never make a poor thing—nor Lalliache.

Better get something really good, and they are put up so prettily.

Easy and Simple.

Don't you remember what a task the bath was when you were a child. Remember that patient mother? Perhaps she had several children to put through the process. Every one whined about it. What a difference now! The bath is easy. The child can take it all alone. No older head needed. It's a real pleasure to bathe in one of our tubs.
